Clemans View Farm Washington's 2016 TOBA breeder of the year

N estled in the town of Naches, in the heart of Central Washington's agricultural lands, lies a farm that has a long history as the birthplace of champion Thoroughbreds. Clemens View Farm is owned by Jean Harris and her son Jeff. The mother and son duo are third and fourth generation Washington horsemen.

Jean's grandfather, A.E. Penney, moved to Washington in 1901 and began Penney Farms in the 1930s. The rich agricultural soil of the farm helped the Penneys grow incredible cherry orchards and raise some of the best Thoroughbreds in the Pacific Northwest. A.E. Penney was one of the original founders of the WTBOA (circa 1940) and an integral figure in the development of Washington racing. Jean's father, A.J. Penney, was a founding director of the Yakima Turf Club and a highly-rated polo player.

As in many racing dynasties, Jean and her brothers continued the family tradition of working with Thoroughbreds. Dr. Robert Penney was a respected equine veterinarian who was well-known throughout the racing industry, and not just in Washington. Jim Penney, who died this past February, was an inaugural member of the Washington Racing Hall of Fame. His influence as a trainer is felt throughout the Pacific Northwest, California and beyond. Jim's daughters Kay Cooper and Jill Fabulich are also heavily involved in racing. Kay and husband Bryson's son Geoffrey became a successful jockey.

Jean, her husband Gerald and son Jeff purchased Clemens View Farm, which had been part of the old Penney Farm, in the late 1980s. They started out by boarding a few horses for outside clients, but then decided to continue the family tradition with a small breeding program. They attended New York auctions and purchased a few broodmares for their foundation stock, including a mare named Bombay Veil.

About this same time Clemens View Farm stood the graded stakes-winning stallion John Casey, a son of Prince John out of a No Robbery mare. He had 40 starts with wins and top placings at Aqueduct, Belmont and Saratoga, with his pinnacle victory in Jeff Harris and his mother Jean (Penney) Harris, third and fourth generation Washington Thoroughbred breeders and owners of Clemans View Farm in Naches.

1982 in the Grade 3 Westchester Handicap at Aqueduct. John Casey had a successful stud career and afterwards was retired at the farm where he lived to the ripe old age of 33 under the shade of the cherry trees.

The Harrises continued to breed and sell their yearlings until the market took a downturn. They then decided they would keep their yearlings to race, finding partners to invest in some of their best stock.

Kaabraaj

With many of Clemens View Farm-bred horses being noticed on the local racing scene, the one that has recently grabbed the attention of racing fans is champion sprinter and multiple stakes winner Kaabraaj. Clemens View purchased Kaabraaj's dam, Kaaaching, bred to Cahill Road, at the 2008 WTBOA Winter Mixed Sale for a saletopping $12,500. Kaaaching is by River Special out of a stakes-placed Saratoga Six mare. She had already produced some successful offspring, including multiple stakes winner Follow the Lite, when they bought her and the Harrises were excited for what she could produce for Clemens View!

When Kaabraaj, a son of Abraaj, came along in 2012, they felt he was going to be something special. He made his first career start as a three-year-old in a $10,000 maiden claiming event where he ran second and was claimed.

Jean remembered they really didn't expect him to be snagged on his first outing, but "We are really pleased at how well he has done!"

Kaabraaj, who made his last start in the Oak Tree Sprint Stakes at Pleasanton on July 4, has now earned over $136,000.

The farm has several other up and coming racehorses out of Kaaaching and recently five of her offspring were entered to race the same weekend up and down the West Coast!

2017 Clemens View Racing Partnerships

Clemens View currently has some very exciting partnership horses in training at Emerald Downs. Their trainers are Howard Belvoir and Jose Navarro. Clemans View Farm-bred runners Viewingthegold and Guardingthemoney, four-year-old geldings by Harbor the Gold and Coast Guard, respectively, ran one-two in a $25,000 claiming race at Emerald Downs on June 11. Viewingthegold races for his breeders and Big Bill and Company (Bill Nicklos, Jose Navarro and Constance Woerman), while Guardingthemoney runs for Clemans View and Nicklos. Guardingthemoney, another son of Kaaaching, won the July 15 feature race at Emerald Downs in style. He hails from the Navarro barn.

Another runner, Don'tbeshywillie, a three-year-old son of Understatement out of Bearlee Naked who races for Clemens View Racing #1, is multiple stakes-placed and is knocking on the door for a 2017 win in the Belvoir barn.

Clemens View also has some up

Clemens View Today

Jean spent 30 years as a school teacher and has now retired to run the farm, while son Jeff manages most of the daily work of caring for the horses.

The Harrises continue to provide excellent care for all their charges and are happy to retire their stock to live out their lives on the beautiful farm.

During the winter their farm is filled up with around 30 racehorses from a few Northwest area trainers – including Belvoir and Navarro – and during the summer their fields showcase their broodmares and foals, as well as their well-loved retirees.

When asked, Jean said one of her favorite horses is a mare named Curried Casey, who was a multiple stakes winner promising two-years-olds, including Goose Prairie, by Nationhood out of Kaaaching, and Tumac Mountain, by Atta Boy Roy out of Kittyzallwet. They are both looking towards their first career starts at Emerald Downs this summer. Each colt was named for beautiful places Jeff loves to hike in the Washington Cascades.

2016 TOBA Award Winners for Washington State

Clemens View Farm was awarded TOBA breeder of the year for Washington for 2016. In 2016 Clemens View had 11 starters with five winners, including champion Kaabraaj and stakes-placed Don'tbeshywillie, with 12 wins and $184,904 in earnings, which ranked them sixth in earnings among the top 50 Washington breeders last year.

at Yakima Meadows under trainer Ann Adams. A daughter of John Casey out of Bombay Veil, Curried Casey earned over $79,000 in her racing career and went on to produce multiple winning offspring. The now 26-year-old mare is enjoying the retired life at the farm.

Jean and Jeff Harris have created a highly successful equine operation at Clemens View Farm and continue to devote their lives to the love of Thoroughbreds and racing.

Katie Peery is a lifelong horsewoman who grew up competing in the sport of eventing. She has always had a love for Thoroughbreds and racing and began working at the track in 2007. She works alongside her husband Kenny Peery, a lifelong Pacific Northwest horseman and trainer. Katie spends a great deal of her time marketing and selling offthe-track Thoroughbreds (OTTBs) as they transitilon to new careers when they are ready to retire from racing. She has placed nearly 300 of these equine athletes across the country.

This year's sale is comprised of 70 colts and 62 fillies, of which 76 are Washingtonbred. The remaining yearlings originally hail from Kentucky (26), California (23, along with several others which are registered California-sired), British Columbia (five) and one each from Arizona and Florida.

The one-day venue also includes five broodmares, all bred to popular Pacific Northwest sires.

Bred by Patricia Murphy and Rick and Debbie Pabst, the Tim McCanna trainee is the second foal and first winner out of Witchy Meeting, a $130,092 earning daughter of General Meeting. Witchy Meeting has a yearling filly by Include which has been nominated to the 2017 WTBOA sale.

Ask the Experts

Veterinary assistance when buying yearlings

Dr. Jim Bryant

How can you assist a potential buyer in purchasing a horse, especially at a sale?

Veterinarians at a sale can be helpful in several aspects. First, evaluating radiographs for evidence of OCDs [osteochondritis dissecans], chip fractures, congenital defects or acquired injuries. If these are present, then a prognosis can be given on the possibilities of how those findings affect the longterm racing potential of the horse. If the radiographs are absent of visible defects or issues, then that is additional positive information for evaluating the horse.

Endoscopic evaluation of the upper airway is vital to assess for conditions such as roaring (left laryngeal hemiplegia [LLH]), a malformed epiglottis that can lead to displacement or other abnormalities. This is an important exam, as pre-existing airway conditions will have a big effect on the potential value and future of a racehorse.

Some veterinarians can provide information on the conformation and walk of the horse and grade the horse based on this information. Lastly, having the heart ausculted (listened to) by a veterinarian to ensure there are no pre-existing heart issues is very helpful for an athletic horse.

These are a couple of examples how a veterinarian can help the buyer at a sale.

What pre-sale services do you offer potential yearling buyers?

Evaluation of radiographs (repository radiographs) or taking the radiographs if none are on file. Endoscopic exams of the upper airway. Physical examination, including the conformation and listening to the heart. Ultrasound of swollen legs.

When examining a horse, a set of x-rays or other diagnostic reports, what do you find acceptable?

In general, you would like to find everything within the normal ranges. Some variations outside of the normal have been shown over the years to be okay for racing (such as some radiographic changes around the hock) and so these would be acceptable.

What specific things do you look for or consider important?

A good airway (no abnormalities noted) and radiographs with no changes, especially in the stifle. Also, if the horse is intended for re-sale, then the margin for error is much lower and those horses should have a relatively normal exam throughout.

What would you consider to be a "red flag"?

The easiest one is those horses that are roarers (LLH) on the pre-sale exam. In order to be successful as racehorses, they will require surgery with a prognosis that is uncertain, as they have not entered training yet. The other is OCD cysts within the stifle, as many of these also require surgery for success as a racehorse and the prognosis is sometimes guarded even with surgery. There are some new studies coming out that not all stifle abnormalities on the radiographs are as important as others, but OCD cysts are still in the less desirable category.

Dr. James "Jim" Bryant is a 1995 graduate of the University of California-Davis School of Veterinary Medicine. He completed a one-year internship at Texas A&M University and a residency in equine surgery at the University of Florida. Following his residency he completed board certification with the American College of Veterinary Surgery and practiced in Ocala, Florida, and Kansas State University before returning to the Pacific Northwest in 2003. Bryant is a partner and equine surgeon with Pilchuck Veterinary Hospital with the bulk of his work focused on sports medicine and orthopedic surgery. He achieved board certification with the American College of Veterinary Sports Medicine and Rehabilitation-Equine in 2016. Bryant is also the onsite veterinarian at Pegasus Training and Rehabilitation Center in Redmond. He continues to have a strong interest in lameness evaluations, treatments and sports medicine-related work, including regenerative medicine

How can you assist a potential buyer in purchasing a horse, especially at a sale?

For me, personally, I don't come to the sales to examine yearlings. Other vets will look at conformation, but I am usually looking at radiographs.

Mostly, I become involved when someone asks me to evaluate a set of films or I may become involved if there is a dispute.

What pre-sale services do you offer potential yearling buyers?

My involvement often comes before a horse arrives at the sale. The breeder, owner or consignor has had x-rays taken – and if something has shown up, they will send the set of radiographs to me for evaluation.

The breeder or owner may be trying to decide if he/she should enter the horse in the sale, or perhaps is considering whether to do surgery and then enter the horse in the sale.

Frequently I am involved even earlier on, evaluating conformation at the foal level – can we do something to help correct or straighten the foal?

When examining a horse, a set of x-rays or other diagnostic reports, what do you find acceptable? What specific things do you look for or consider important? What would you consider to be a "red flag"?

Since I am an orthopedic specialist, I'm not involved with airway or throat issues.

For the most part, injuries are not yet present in yearlings, so the most common problem is OCD abnormalities – a split or separation of the cartilage surface of a bone, which may have a flake or a chip associated with it. This is probably the biggest red flag for most purchasers.

The evaluation can vary, depending on the severity of the case, and it can depend on the location, which can be in the fetlocks, hocks or stifles.

Dr. Robert "Bob" Schneider grew up in Northern California. He is a graduate of the University of California-Davis. His did his equine surgery residency training at Ohio State University and became a Diplomate of the American College of Veterinary Surgeons (or a board certified specialist in surgery). He has been a faculty member at colleges of veterinary medicine at four universities, including 20 years at Washington State University. He has been diagnosing and treating horses with lameness and orthopedic injuries for 35 years. He is a frequent speaker at national and international meetings on lameness and treatment of orthopedic injuries in performance horses. Schneider was a pioneer in the use of MRI for diagnosing lameness in horses. He is a well-recognized expert in orthopedic surgery and treatment of lameness problems and provides these services at McKinlay & Peters Equine Hospital in Spokane, as well as at the veterinary hospital at Emerald Downs.

What It Took to Make American Pharoah Go

Customizing a half plate shoe to protect a bruise paid off for the Triple Crown winner

by Tracy Gantz

Reprinted by permission of American Farriers Journal

We schampagne did such a good job of shoeing American Pharoah that the colt's feet rarely made the news. As American Pharoah raced into immortality by becoming the first Thoroughbred Triple Crown winner in 37 years and then adding the Breeders' Cup Classic (G1) win, no one outside of trainer Bob Baffert's barn probably even thought about his horseshoes.

But Baffert and Champagne paid special attention to the feet of what turned out to be only the 12th horse to win the Triple Crown.

The only blip on American Pharoah's health as a racehorse was a foot bruise in the fall of 2014. Had the trainer and farrier not put foot care first, the colt's legendary career might never have happened.

Started With a Bruise

American Pharoah developed a bruise in his left front foot right before the 2014 Breeders' Cup World Championship at Santa Anita Park. With two spectacular wins in the Del Mar Futurity (G1) and Front Runner Stakes (G1), he would have been the favorite in the Breeders' Cup Juvenile (G1) for two-year-olds. Instead, he sat out the race and didn't compete again for more than five months.

To deal with the situation, Baffert brought in Champagne, a farrier he uses for some of his more complex foot care cases. Together, they decided to put a half plate on American Pharoah's left front foot. This was a solution that worked so well that Champagne continued to make the plate every time he shod the colt throughout 2015.

Champagne has decades of farrier experience, and is the go-to guy for "special needs" cases for many top Thoroughbred racehorse trainers in Southern California. He also regularly shoes European runners that come to the US for the Breeders' Cup. He also helped pioneer the glue-on shoe concept and developed the Blacksmith Buddy farriertraining device.

Success with a Half plate

Champagne first saw the half plate used in the 1980s when farrier Don Shaft used it on a stakes horse that had heel cracks in all four feet. He says a half plate can benefit a horse in a number of ways, in addition to protecting a bruise or an abscess.

With American Pharoah, the left front was shod with part of a full plate cut out to expose the sole in front of the frog. A thin aluminum alloy plate was cut to fit the shoe and riveted at the heels.

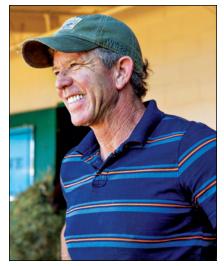

"It helps keep the heel elevated a little bit," he said. "I like a half plate for bruises and I think they work really well for any ligament problems below the ankle. They also help sore heels. Sometimes they can also help with sore soles because they can take some of the pressure off."

While American Pharoah probably didn't need the half plate after the bruise healed and he returned to racing, Champagne and Baffert kept him in it throughout the year. Since it was working so well, neither trainer nor farrier wanted to mess with success.

Throughout the year, Champagne shod American Pharoah every 26 to 28 days. That schedule not only was appropriate for Baffert's training regimen and the colt's foot growth, but it allowed Champagne to switch from XT to low toe as needed, depending on where American Pharoah's next race would be.

In a muddy Arkansas Derby (G1), American Pharoah won the race handily – even though the left front shoe was bent after leaving the starting gate. In the Travers Stakes (G1), the colt grabbed the plate during the race and bent it slightly.

As a result, Champagne fit the plate more tightly to the heels for the Breeders' Cup.

Farrier Wes Champagne, who likes to temper his shoes with heat to improve flexibility and to be able to absorb more shock when the foot hits the ground, says a half plate could work well for horses that have ligament concerns below the ankle or sore heels.

Building the Plates

Champagne creates various plates that are specific to the particular horse he is shoeing. For American Farriers Journal, he demonstrated each step he goes through to make the half plate used on American Pharoah. It normally takes him 14 minutes to turn out two half plates.

He has thin aluminum plates cut (Figure

1) that measure 6 1/2- by 6-inches, a size that can handle the plates for any size shoe. In American Pharoah's case, the plate covered the bottom half of the foot, as shown at left.

To shape and cut the plate, Champagne usually uses a plasma cutter (Figure 2). He tried welding the plate to the shoe in the past, but found riveting works better.

For this demonstration, Champagne used a 9/64-inch bit to drill rivet and nail holes into the plate (Figure 3) and to cut out the top half of the plate (Figure 4). He likes this size drill bit because it works well with 3 1/2 XL nails.

He used two rivets at the bottom of a size 7 Thoro'Bred Queens Plate XT to attach the plate to the shoe (Figures 5 and 6). Whether Champagne used an XT or a low toe shoe with American Pharoah depended on the rules of the particular track where the colt competed. In the Kentucky Derby (G1), for example, he used an XT shoe because Churchill Downs didn't allow a low toe.

Next, he used a band saw to cut the outside of the plate to the size of the shoe. This is when he decides how much to egg out the plate at the back of the shoe. He bases this decision on several factors, but egging out the back of the plate provides more support.

"When the weight loads on the limb and the knee kind of hyper-extends when a horse is running, his ankle can almost sink into the ground," said Champagne. "They want to rock back, and the farther you get the support back underneath that hoof, the more you are going to support the back of that limb."

If he feels that a horse might grab the plate with a hind leg, Champagne doesn't egg out the back of the shoe, keeping it more straight across.

Champagne watches a horse's stride, and if he feels the horse might overreach, he won't egg out the back of the plate. He also doesn't egg out the plate if the horse is a sprinter due to the explosive nature at the start of a sprint race. He estimates 90 percent of the incidents where a horse catches the plate with a hind limb happen at the start of a race.

American Pharoah had such a perfect stride that Champagne didn't have to worry about that, except for the Kentucky Derby. Because that race had 18 horses and the possibility that traffic jams might have made it easier for a hind foot to grab the shoe, Champagne didn't egg out the back of the plate at all.

As it turned out, jockey Victor Espinoza was able to keep American Pharoah in the clear throughout the Derby. American Pharoah never was in danger of grabbing the plate, but Champagne didn't want to take any chances.

Bruise Protection

After Champagne cut the plate to fit the shoe, he sanded down the edges of the plate around the entire shoe. At this point, the plate covers the whole surface inside the shoe.

Next, he drilled nail holes in the plate, using the shoe's ready-made nail holes as a guide. He drills the nail holes first because if the bit were to break, he could use any size bit for the next step.

That next step is how Champagne gets rid of the top half of the plate. He drilled holes as close to each other as possible to create an outline around the inside of the shoe and across the center. "I'm just weakening the metal so that I can pop out the top half of the plate with a hammer," he said. He explains that the size of the hole doesn't have to be exact because he can fine-tune it when he puts the shoe in a vise and works it with a rasp and half-round file, which also smoothes the edges of the entire opening.

Champagne can customize the plate to cover whatever part of the sole that needs protection.

It was not uncommon for Chanpagne to spend as much as two hours getting the shoes just right on American Pharoah.

"You can adjust them depending on where the bruise is," he said. "You might shift the plate a little forward or add more to the sides."

With a different horse that had stepped on a nail and developed an abscess, Champagne shaped the plate as a half moon. The metal plate reached the second nail hole on one side to protect the bruised area.

Although some farriers feel a horse should wear the same type of shoe on both front feet, Champagne often uses only one half plate, such as with American Pharoah.

"One half plate seems to work better than two," he said. "Maybe the horse gets the confidence so that when he lands on that plate he has the support he wants and feels he can really push off from it."

Heating the Shoes

Whether he is using a special shoe like a half plate or keg shoes, Champagne likes to take the temper out of shoes with heat. He feels this is critical to keeping a racehorse sound since it makes the shoe more flexible. That way the shoe can absorb more of the shock when the foot hits the ground instead of the foot and leg having to take the brunt of it. He's convinced tempering helps reduce suspensory injuries.

Champagne put shoes on American Pharoah for the final time in late October, just before the colt traveled from California's Santa Anita track to Keeneland in Kentucky for the final race of his career, the Breeders' Cup Classic. Two days after American Pharoah vanquished his foes in that race, he took a short trip down the road to Ashford Stud, where he began his breeding career in 2016.

It's a story Champagne can tell his grandchildren. After all, how many farriers can say they have shod a Triple Crown winner? What makes it even sweeter is that American Pharoah never gave Champagne a bit of trouble.

"He is a puppy dog," said Champagne. "He was always so patient. I'm really grateful and feel really blessed to have worked on him."

Stem cells aspirated from bone marrow and before being cultured and expanded for reinsertion into the horse.

Stem Cell Update

Stem cells being infused into an ankle.

Regenerative medicine for equines

by Heather Smith Thomas

S tem cell therapy has been utilized in horses to help heal tendon, ligament and joint injuries for over 20 years, and new uses for stem cells are continually explored. At this point there are basically two sources of stem cells for clinical use – from bone marrow and from fat tissue. A minor source is utilization of fetal umbilical cord, similar to what is done in human medicine.

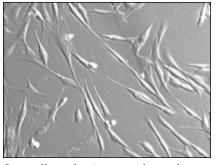

Cells harvested from bone marrow are usually cultured and expanded, putting them back into the horse some weeks later. Cells harvested from fat can be collected and concentrated at a lab and sent back within about 48 hours for quicker administration.

Dr. Troy Herthel (surgeon, Alamo Pintado Equine Medical Center, Los Olivos, California) has worked with stem cells for a number of years. His father, Dr. Doug Herthel, pioneered the early use of stem cells from bone marrow in treating injured tendons and ligaments. Alamo Pintado has utilized stem cell therapy on more than 4,000 patients over the past 22 years.

At this point in time, however, the use of stem cells in horses is a little bit on hold.

"The FDA has become involved with stem cell therapy and other types of regenerative medicine, and we are not sure what their final ruling will be, regarding regulation of stem cell use. We do need some regulation, but at the same time this 'hold' is challenging for us, because we have been able to successfully treat so many things. This is frustrating, but we are at a point where we need the science to catch up to where we are in terms of what we are treating clinically," the younger Herthel explained.

"We want to make sure that this is evidence-based medicine, and be able to show that what we are doing is truly beneficial for the horse. For the most part, everything that we've treated with stem cells or some other type of regenerative medicine has significantly improved – whether it's a soft tissue injury or some other type of disease." It's been an exciting innovation and a benefit for owners of lame horses to have this option.

"Right now, in terms of regenerative medicine (while we wait to see what the FDA comes up with regarding stem cells), we are doing more with stall-side treatments like PRP (platelet rich plasma) or IRAP (interleuken receptor antagonist protein)," said Herthel. Interleuken is a mediator of inflammation like histamine and other cytokines that cause bad things to happen in the injured tissue. IRAP is produced within certain cells in the body, to aid healing. A system has been developed to concentrate higher amounts of that protein. It can be harvested and then injected back into injured tissues to help minimize inflammation and assist with repair.

"There is also a newer formulation called ProStride which is like a PRP-IRAP combination. There are also some other autologous conditioned serum therapies we can use that are similar to IRAP. We are now relying more heavily on these adjunct therapies, in the past several years, due to the uncertainty of the FDA's stance on production and use of stem cells. At our hospital we still do many on-site stem cell treatments for a variety of soft-tissue injuries," he further explained.

A Brief Look at Stem Cell Therapy

"In equine athletes, the first stem cell procedure was started in the mid-1990s with direct bone-marrow injections. We harvested bone marrow from the sternum of the horse and injected it directly into the lesion – which at that time was primarily suspensory ligament injuries. That was one of the seminal uses and beginnings of regenerative medicine for equine athletes," informed Herthel.

"Then we progressed to using bone marrow concentrate, which is a further refinement of using native or unprocessed bone marrow. In this procedure we harvest the bone marrow, centrifuge it in a special apparatus to concentrate some of the stem cells within that bone marrow, as well as a lot of the growth factors and some of the other components we are looking for that can help stimulate healing," he explained.

"That evolved into actually expanding and growing stem cells. When we do the expansion and grow the stem cells from the original bone marrow source, it takes about two to three weeks to obtain the number of cells that we feel would be adequate for the most appropriate dose for a typical bowed tendon or suspensory ligament injury. We typically harvest 20 to 30 million cells to be injected into the lesion, often via ultrasound guidance," he said.

"We started out primarily treating soft tissue injuries and then progressed to treating joints. Some people also started to treat laminitis with stem cells – and it really blossomed from there. That's where we are now, and because there's been such an expansion of stem cell therapy in veterinary medicine in the past 15-plus years, the FDA is trying to make sure it is regulated and that this kind of therapy isn't being used inappropriately," Herthel further explained.

As the stem cell therapy was expanding its role in regenerative medicine, this is also when other techniques were becoming popular, like autologous condition serums, and components like PRP. These modalities are often very veterinarian-specific, in terms of how each veterinarian prefers to treat certain injuries and which regenerative therapy is utilized.

"There has been a lot of clinical research, as well as research at the microscopic level, looking at stem cell therapy, and trying to determine what is truly going on in that horse when we use those cells," he added

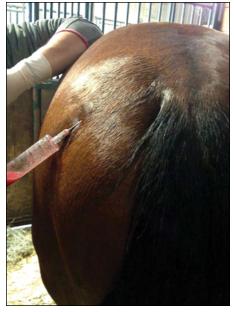

"It was once believed that stem cells would develop into whatever tissue type they are injected into. Now we realize it is more likely that these cells are a composite mixture and have many effects other than just the pure cells themselves. Their presence stimulates the patient to send more local stem cells into the lesion. It is a complex biologic process. Stem cells are a bit like paramedics that rush in to give assistance and provide multiple factors that improve the healing process," explained Herthel.

Stem Cell Therapy for Joints

Some of the early stem cell work with joints, including stifle injuries, was done by Dr. David Frisbie at Colorado State University (CSU), working on the premise that stem cells could aid healing in cartilagetype tissues. "There had been some studies in goats, removing the entire meniscus from the stifle joint. Half of those goats were treated with bone marrow-derived stem cells and half were treated with a placebo. Seven out of nine of the goats that were treated with stem cells regenerated 50 to 70 percent of their meniscus," reported Frisbie.

He felt that if stem cells could regenerate 50 to 70 percent of the meniscus injuries 70 percent of the time, he could use stem cells in horses with a damaged meniscus and maybe they could regenerate some of that tissue. Many horses cannot return to work when treated with surgery alone.

One of his early cases was a mare with a torn meniscus and some cartilage lesions as well. "Pictures of her stifle showed she had bone-on-bone contact of the tibia and femur because the front portion of the meniscus was completely gone. On a 0-3 scale of damage, this was a 3 – the most severe injury. Her chances of becoming sound and going back to work, with surgery alone, would be only about seven percent," said Frisbie.

Stem cells being harvested from fat can be processed and ready for insertion into the equine patient in 24 hours.

"We took her to surgery and treated the stifle with stem cells. Historically, this mare had been treated with other therapies, with no improvement in lameness. After the stem cell therapies, within 90 days she was sound. She stayed sound, and the owner started riding the mare again," Frisbie added.

This was one of the earliest cases, in a horse that had not responded to other treatments, and having it return to soundness after using stem cells. "We followed more than 30 cases with stifle lesions, most with meniscal tears, and saw a significant number of them go back to work," he said.

In these test cases, only horses that had failed to respond to routine treatments, with little hope for recovery were selected for stem cell therapy. Out of 33 horses that were treated with surgery and stem cells, 14 returned to or exceeded their previous level of function, 11 returned to some function, and eight were unable to return to work. The most severe meniscal injuries showed the most improvement, with 62.5 percent of horses with a grade 3 meniscal injury returning to some level of function, and 25 percent returning to their previous function. In horses with severe cartilage damage, 71.4 percent were able to return to full function. Even though a joint flare-up after the stem cell injection was reported in three horses, no lasting negative effects were noted in those cases.

"Meniscus tears are graded in severity as 1, 2 and 3. A lot of horses with severe tears (grade 3) with surgery alone have only a seven percent chance of going back to work. With stem cell therapy used in conjunction with the surgery, we've now seen more than 50 percent of those horses go back to work," said Frisbie.

"We've also having good success in treating suspensory ligaments and tendons with stem cells. Tendon injuries were probably the first things treated with stem cells. Here at CSU we started in 2003 using stem cells in joints. Dr. Roger Smith at the UK (University of Kentucky) has probably done the most stem cell work with tendons. We've also done quite a bit of clinical work with tendons and ligaments. The group at Washington State University (WSU), headed by Dr. Bob Schneider, did a controlled study looking at stem cells in treating suspensory lesions and it has shown beneficial effects," Frisbie added.

Another stem cell study, looking at racehorses, showed a significant decrease in re-injury rate in flat-racing athletes treated with stem cells. "Our study included a lot more horses than flat-racing horses, but as that paper points out, the most difficult group to get back to work without re-injury are these racehorses," he explained.

"The stem cell therapy may cost $2,500 or more, but it's pretty easy to spend that much if you keep treating the horse with other modalities like PRP and shock wave therapy. None of the studies with these modalities have shown any decrease in the re-injury rate," Frisbie said.

"I tell my clients there are four things they can do when the horse has a tendon or ligament injury. One is rest, and this > typically doesn't work as far as getting the horse back to soundness or decreasing re-injury. Most of my clients who have athletic horses don't choose that option. The second is PRP and third is shock wave, both of which clinically seem to work better in low-level (slight to mild) injuries. I have less luck with them in moderate to severe cases. The fourth option is stem cells, and in our studies we targeted moderate to severe cases and got just as good a result as most people did with the shock wave and PRP on the slight to moderate cases," he explained.

Surgical staple gun being used to staple site after bone marrow carrying stem cells has been inserted.

The client often wonders how to choose between these options, and may select a cheaper one. "But when we tell them about the longevity of the cells being in there to direct the healing and the long-term studies that show a decrease in re-injury rate, they quickly decide that if they are going to treat the horse they want to give it the best option," Frisbie concluded.

Heather Smith Thomas has raised and trained horses for 55 years and has been writing about them nearly that long, selling more than 10,000 stories and articles and publishing 24 books. One of her recent books is Horse Tales: True Stories from an Idaho Ranch. She and her husband continue to raise beef cattle and a few horses at their Salmon, Idaho, ranch.

Irap: How the Horse Got His Name and What the Letters Stand For

by Natalie Voss

ne of the most interesting parts of Ocovering the Kentucky Derby (G1) each year is learning how each runner got his (or her) name. At least one or two usually have a story, whether it's sentimental or humorous, and this year is no exception.

Doug O'Neill trainee Irap is not, in fact, named for any hidden desire on the part of O'Neill or owner J. Paul Reddam to become a rapper, but instead his name refers to a mix-up that happened when the rangy son of Tiznow was young.

IRAP is short for interleukin-1 receptor antagonist protein, and it's also a type of veterinary therapy which has become popular over the past decade. IRAP, often grouped together with stem cell therapy, is a way of encouraging healing at an injury site.

But Irap the horse didn't actually get IRAP. O'Neill assistant Leandro Mora said the colt got his name thanks to a mix-up on the farm. "It was by mistake," said Mora. "But the name was meant to be."

Mora explained that a van driver was asked to bring one horse from the O'Neill barn to a nearby farm for some time off and some IRAP therapy. Then, he was asked to pick up the Tiznow colt from the farm and bring him to the O'Neill barn, but the driver forgot to turn in his shipping information sheet from the first horse. The first horse didn't have a registered name, so the driver had simply written 'IRAP' so he could make sure the farm knew that horse needed treatment. He came back to the O'Neill barn with the Tiznow colt and the first horse's shipping sheet, saying, 'I have the IRAP horse on the van.' The O'Neill team figured out what had happened, but "The IRAP horse" stuck.

[The horse] had no name yet. The owner heard about it, and said, 'That's what we'll name the horse,'" said Mora.

Like platelet-rich plasma and stem cell therapy, IRAP (which is confusingly, both the name of the therapy and its active ingredient) uses a component of the horse's own blood. Blood is collected and left to incubate in syringes containing coated glass beads, which help stimulate the production of IRAP from the white blood cells in the sample. Then, the sample is spun and separated, and the IRAP is put into the injured area via injection. The active ingredient blocks the inflammation process that comes along with an injury. Like stem cell and PRP, the goal of IRAP is to flood an injured area with a higher concentration of the healing agent, more quickly than the body would on its own.

IRAP has proven most useful for calming and staving off osteoarthritis in joints, according to Dr. John Peloso, surgeon and owner at the Equine Medical Center of Ocala in Florida.

"It effectively blocks the action of the thing that causes arthritis," said Peloso.

Interleukin is part of the natural inflammatory reaction that comes along with osteoarthritis, but it can have a damaging effect on the cartilage and joint capsule, worsening the joint's long-term health.

IRAP and similar therapies are new to horses, relatively speaking, and it took some time for veterinarians to learn what type of therapy was most effective for which conditions. Now, about 12 years into its use in the United States, Peloso said the veterinary community has a broader understanding of it because it has been used safely on so many cases of arthritis from different types of equine athletes.

Peloso said the price for IRAP runs about $1,000 for four to six syringes gathered from one blood collection, which means it's not often a veterinarian's first call for treating arthritis. Horses typically get a reduced work schedule for the first week after administration and can then return to full training while getting the subsequent doses, spaced a week apart. IRAP has the advantage of being free from the side effects that can come with intra-articular corticosteroid injections, and there are no concerns that IRAP will spike a post-race drug test.

"It is just another option for controlling inflammation in a joint in horses that actively perform," said Peloso. "As our industry is becoming more and more interested in the kinds of drugs we put in the body, this option is generated by the blood so it's more holistic and maybe a little bit more natural.

"The good news is as you continue to reduce the amount of interleukin in the joint, the thing that destroys joint lining, joint cartilage is less and less, so all the destructive things that come with inflammation are reduced."

NOTICE TO ALL MEMBERS of the Washington Thoroughbred Breeders and Owners Association Concerning Election Qualifications for TRUSTEES TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

ARTICLE III - MEMBERS - SECTION 3.11. Election of Trustees or Directors. The Nominating Committee of the Association shall be an ad hoc committee appointed by the President and comprised of current Board and Sales Committee members who are not up for re-election. The Nominating Committee shall meet no later than June 15 of each year and nominate four (4) or more persons for election to the Board to fill the four (4) positions on the Board, which are being vacated. The names of these nominees shall be printed in the first issue of the WASHINGTON THOROUGHBRED after the June 15 meeting. Persons other than those selected by the Nominating Committee can be nominated to the Board by filing with the Secretary and/ or the General Manager of the Association a nominating petition with the signatures of ten (10) or more members in good standing. The Secretary and/or General Manager, on or before September 10 of each year, must receive such nominating petitions. The nominees shall submit resumes for publication in the magazine. Such resumes shall be not more than 75 words in length and contain biographical or other background information outlining the nominee's qualifications for the position of Trustee. All names and resumes of said nominees shall be then printed in the Fall issue of the WASHINGTON THOROUGHBRED. Election ballots shall be mailed to each member of the Association on or before October 15 of each year. Members and dual members shall vote for up to four (4) candidates (one vote per candidate), so long as the number does not exceed four (4). All ballots, in order to be counted, must be received by the Association on or before November 15 of each year. The four (4) nominees receiving the largest number of votes will be the Trustees elected to the Board. Beginning in 2006, a new directive to encourage member participation was enacted. Rings a Chime

Quality in a plain brown wrapper

by Emily Shields

A Change in Ownership

Rings a Chime holds off Zoftig to take Keeneland's Ashland Stakes for Turf Side Stables.

O n looks alone, Rings a Chime was unassuming: a dynamite runner hidden in a plain dark bay wrapper. In reality, she not only cultivated the richest single season by a Washington-bred runner to date, but she went on to be a two-time state champion and produce a dual Grade 1 winner. As humble as she looked, Rings a Chime proved to be a mighty representative of the Evergreen State.

Although she was not foaled until 1997, the story of Rings a Chime begins with a visit to the 1993 Keeneland November Breeding Stock Sale by Terry and Mary Lou Griffin. They went to $17,000 to acquire the stakes-winning Red Ryder (a full brother to Mr. Prospector) mare Outofthebluebell while the mare was in foal to Time for a Change. The resulting filly never made it to the races, but the Griffins had their eyes on Outofthebluebell's first foal, a stakes-placed filly by Fast Play named Dona Coquis.

With Fast Play being by Triple Crown winner Seattle Slew, the Griffins selected another Seattle Slew son, Grade 3 stakes winner Metfield, to visit Outofthebluebell in 1996. The resulting filly, Rings a Chime, was born March 15, 1997.

Rings a Chime brought a high bid of $26,000 from trainer Lloyd Mason and owners Dave and Trish Currie at the 1998 WTBOA Summer Sale. The future star left her home state to train in California at Golden Gate Fields, where she made her debut June 20, 1999.

Champion at Two

Her ambitious first start came in the Malcolm Anderson Stakes, a five-furlong sprint against males, all of which had run before. Despite her inexperience, Rings a Chime finished second, beaten only a head for the win. She also ran second in the Juan Gonzalez Memorial Stakes at the Pleasanton fair before being dropped into maiden special weight company.

Rings a Chime was heavily favored to win her third start, a maiden race at the now defunct Bay Meadows, but she finished second again, this time behind a Thunder Gulch filly named Spain. That runner would go on to earn over $3.5-million and count the Breeders' Cup Distaff (G1) amongst her seven graded stakes victories.

Three months after her inspiring debut, Rings a Chime finally won, driving home by 4 1/2 lengths despite rider Russell Baze losing his whip in the stretch. The filly then blossomed, adding a Bay Meadows allowance race by three lengths, followed by the Bay Meadows Lassie Stakes by another 4 1/4 lengths. That impressive effort sealed her title as Washington's champion two-year-old filly, but Rings a Chime ran one more time that year, finishing third to a field of colts in the Doonesbury Handicap. She only lost by a length.

Ids Ids Ids

> $400,000 offer. Rings a Chime was sold. New trainer Lonnie Arterburn mapped out an ambitious campaign for the Metfield filly, starting with the 1 1/16-mile Santa Ysabel Stakes (G3). It was Rings a Chime's first try beyond a mile, and eventual heroine Surfside was already a dual Grade 1 winner. Surfside defeated Rings a Chime that day but the margin was significantly closer when Rings a Chime ran third, beaten only 1 1/4 lengths, behind Surfside and Spain in the $200,000 Las Virgenes Stakes (G1).

Mary Lou and Terry Griffin (above), at the 2012 Hall of Fame ceremonies, bred the Grade 1 winner.

As a yearling (right), trainer Lloyd Mason originally purchased the future champion for $26,000 out of the 1998 WTBOA Sale for himself and Dave and Tish Currie.

Washington Thoroughbred

In the Grade 1, $300,000 Santa Anita Oaks, Rings a Chime dueled with Surfside for the lead before weakening to fourth. Hardly discouraged, Arterburn shipped Rings a Chime to Kentucky for Keeneland's Grade 1 Ashland Stakes. Despite being away from the competitive likes of Surfside and Spain, Rings a Chime was sent off at sevento-one odds in a six-horse field on a track wet from recent rain.

Under Shane Sellers, Rings a Chime set the early pace, had a two-length advantage at the top of the stretch, and dug in gamely to defeat Grade 1 winner Zoftig by a nose. Other Grade 1 heroines, Circle of Life and Breeders' Cup Juvenile Fillies winner Cash Run, finished third and fourth respectively, while favored Deed I Do ran fifth.

The gritty Ashland performance earned Rings a Chime her spot in the Kentucky Oaks (G1) starting gate, but still did not garner her much respect from the bettors. She was sent off at 20-to-one in the Oaks, but led all the way until the quarter pole, where she gave way to the closing Secret Status. It was a banner day for Washingtonbreds, as fellow state-bred runner Classy Cara finished third.

Unfortunately, a minor tendon injury suffered while running last in the Black-Eyed Susan Stakes (G1) ended Rings a Chime's race career. She retired with four wins, five seconds, and two thirds in 13 starts for earnings of $606,315. Her 2000 campaign earned $526,275. Unsurprisingly, she was voted as the state's horse of the year and overall champion three-year-old.

In the Breeding Ranks

The valuable Rings a Chime was sent to Taylor Made Farm in Kentucky and quickly booked to Storm Cat, but failed to get in foal. She was then a $975,000 RNA at the 2000 Fasig-Tipton select November sale. She aborted a Saint Ballado foal the following year.

Robert and Janice McNair's Stonerside Stables went to $800,000 to acquire Rings a Chime at the 2002 Keeneland January Horses of All Ages Sale, and she finally produced a live foal the following year, a filly by Kingmambo named Regal Chime.

A $485,000 Keeneland September yearling RNA, Regal Chime would make two starts at three. After winning her debut in a 1 1/16-mile maiden special weight race at Gulfstream Park for the McNairs, she ended her racing career with a second in a mile turf allowance at Churchill Downs, but unfortunately died as a four-year-old.

bad luck in the breeding shed, with her $124,938 earning Storm Cat son Liston dying as a five-year-old, her 2012 Distorted Humor filly Opus dying unraced at five, and neither her 2013 Tapit colt nor her 2016 Medaglia d'Oro foal saw their yearling season. She was also barren to Distorted Humor twice.

Despite this tough luck, Rings a Chime has done what she always did on the track: beat the odds. From six starters she has four winners, including the $208,985-earner After the Bell, a gelded son of Empire Maker who won 12 races over five seasons, and dual Grade 1-winner Country Star.

Also sired by Belmont Stakes (G1) winner Empire Maker, Country Star emulated her dam by winning a Grade 1 race at Keeneland – this time the 2007 Darley Alcibiades Stakes – before adding the Grade 1 Hollywood Starlet Stakes in track record time two months later. Country Star earned $668,865 and was ranked second, two pounds below champion and Breeders' Cup Fillies (G1) winner Indian Blessing, on the Experimental Free Handicap.

When the massive Darley operation acquired Stonerside in 2008, Rings a Chime was part of the transfer of livestock.

From Washington, to California, to Kentucky, the nondescript Rings a Chime proved her mettle over and over again, earning her spot in the Washington Racing Hall of Fame.

Emily Shields is a freelance writer based in Southern California. She has been covering horse racing since 2006.

As a broodmare in Kentucky, Rings a Chime has so far produced nine named foals, including double Grade 1 winner Country Star and a yet to start two-year-old colt by Distorted Humor named Peace Force.

Breeder Mary Lou Griffin Remembers Rings a Chime

Any memories stand out for Rings a Chime as a baby or yearling?

She was a very plain package. No white, very plain head, good bone, average size, correct, but nothing that would catch your eye.

I remember she and Arctic Queen were turned out together in a very long field. Every evening they put on quite a show. They would both roll then leap in the air and tear down to the end of the field and back. They went so high in the air that it kind of scared us. We just hoped they wouldn't get hurt with their antics.

What did you consider her strongest points?

Her tremendous burst of speed and her heart. I think she won the Ashland on pure gutsiness. She went wire-to-wire and just would not let Zoftig by. I think I held my breath for a couple of minutes while they reviewed the race. As I recall, the announcer thought Zoftig had won. The cameraman certainly did, because he kept showing Zoftig.

Did you get to see any of her races in person?

No. We did watch her first race, which was against the boys, the Malcolm Anderson Stakes at Golden Gate Fields, from a satellite facility in Santa Barbara. We were cheering so hard I think everyone thought we were nuts. Joseph Kowl invited us to attend the Kentucky Oaks, but we decided we would rather watch with our friends here at home. We made mint julips and had a great time.

Slew connection?

I bred Outofthebluebell to Metfield because he was a hot young son of Seattle Slew and she had a little stakes-placed runner by Fast Play, who was also sired by Seattle Slew. It was an obvious cross because Outofthebluebell's sire was a full brother to Mr. Prospector.

Have you visited her in Kentucky?

Yes, we went to watch her sell at the Fasig-Tipton sale after she retired. It was a thrill to see her again and to watch her go through for $975,000. She was an RNA, but it still was very exciting. When we arrived, we had no intention of buying another mare, but you know how it is with horsemen. We couldn't stand not to look. We ended up buying Cozzenes's Angel [who the Griffins later sold for $1,350,000 at the 2005 Keeneland January sale after her first foal had become a two-time Grade 1 winner in 2002] and that ended up okay too. Talk about the right place at the right time and throw in a lot of luck!

We also went out to visit Rings a Chime at Stonerside the next year. It was the most amazing sight to see her out in this field that was probably 50 acres with about ten other mares including, Chuilukki (1998 Eclipse Two-year-old Filly Champion).

Any other comments or observations?

In the stud she has out-produced Spain and Surfside (2000 Eclipse Three-year-old Filly Champion), a couple of her biggest rivals.

She wasn't the top in her crop, but came close and it was a thrill to see her silks painted on the jockey at Keeneland for her Ashland win and to see a video clip of her Oaks race in the Kentucky Derby Museum at Churchill Downs.

Starr School of Browning, Montana (a member of the Blackfoot Nation), captured the championship heat on Sunday, June 11, to score a victory in the exciting and colorful 2nd Annual Muckleshoot Gold Cup. Starr School rider Isiah Cross Guns led the celebration after crossing the finish line first in the two-mile relay run in 3:39.40. A total of 21 teams competed in the three-day Indian Relay event, which offered over $75,000 in prizes.

The wildly entertaining ostrich race provided many ups and downs, especially for the big birds' game jockeys. Jose Zunino managed to stay on the best as he made it across the finish line first aboard Number 3 "Atta Boy Toy."

Emerald Downs barn superintendent Vern Baze was one of the handler's for the event.

On May 21 ostrich and camel racing made their debut at Emerald Downs to an enthusiastic crowd. Among those taking the plunge with "the ships of the desert" were track announcer Matt Dinerman (above left) and 2017 meet leading rider Rocco Bowen (above, in green), who won the "hotly" contested camel race aboard "Harbor The Hump."

2017 WTBOA Homebred Incentive Program (WHIP) Bonus Winners

Prisco Vacca, Mike Phillips and trainer Allen Bozell's threeyear-old filly Pre Mo Diamond earned a $1,000 Washington Homebred Incentive Program (WHIP) bonus after she won a maiden $25,000 claiming race by 5 3/4 lengths on June 2 at Emerald Downs. Bred in Washington by Vacca and his wife Elizabeth, the new winner is a daughter of Munger Farm stallion Nacheezmo and out of the Bertrando mare Creole Delights. She is the fourth winner from Creole Delights' first five named foals. Creole Delights also has a two-year-old Ministers Wild Cat filly named Mardi Gras Delight, a yearling colt by Grazen named My Grandpa – who is consigned to the 2017 WTBOA Sale – and a 2017 filly by Boistrous.

Bella Mia became the third 2017 juvenile winner for Harbor the Gold and second 2017 WHIP winner when she went gate-to-wire to take a five-furlong maiden special weight race by 5 1/4 lengths at Emerald Downs on July 1. Out of the stakes-placed Slewdledo mare Bella Campana and bred in Washington by Terry and Mary Lou Griffin, Bella Mia races for John and Janene Maryanski, who will receive a $1,000 WHIP bonus for their new runner's impressive victory. The filly hails from the barn of 2017 leading Emerald trainer Blaine Wright and was ridden by Julien Couton.

Ron Crockett Inc. and William T. and Mary Lou Griffin's homebred Buckley Bay earned the partners a $1,000 WHIP bonus after the three-year-old gelding went gate-to-wire to take his debut in a $25,000 maiden claiming race at Emerald Downs on July 2. Ridden by Julien Couton and trained by Tom Wenzel, the gelded son of Harbor the Gold won the six-furlong race by two lengths.

Buckley Bay is the fourth winner out of the Tribunal mare Courtroom Charmer, a half-sister to 2000 Washington champion two-year-old filly and $110,938 earner Best Judgement and to $112,539 stakes-placed Mashiko. Among Courtroom Charmer's other winners is Cariboo Road, who won three races and placed in two stakes at Emerald Downs. Courtroom Charmer has a twoyear-old filly by Tribal Rule named Judicial and foaled a filly by Girolamo this spring. Her yearling by He's Tops has been consigned to the upcoming WTBOA Sale on August 22.

A $65,000 November Keeneland sale weanling, Alliford Bay made her second sale appearance in Ocala as a two-year-old where she was listed as purchased by Alister Roden Bloodstock for $150,000 at the OBS April sale of juveniles.

Unraced at two, the City Zip filly made her racing debut at Golden Gate Fields on March 25 in a six-furlong maiden special weight race. Ridden by Irving Orozco, who would later partner with her in the Seattle Stakes, the Blaine Wright trainee would "edge away driving" to take her first win by 2 1/4 lengths for Peter Redekop BC Ltd.

Alliford Bay, like Redekop's millionaire performer Alert Bay (who is also sired by City Zip, is trained by Wright and won the Grade 3 San Francisco Mile Stakes on April 29) was named for a location off the beautiful island passageways in British Columbia. Alliford Bay is part of the Skidgate Inlet off Moresby Island, which is located in the Queen Charlotte Islands. Alert Bay is a small village on Cormorant Island in the Mount Waddington regional district.

Bet down as the seven-to-ten favorite to take the Seattle Stakes, Alliford Bay dueled with previously unbeaten Washington champion Risque's Legacy for the first halfmile before putting away that rival by 3 1/4 lengths.

Alliford Bay is the second foal and stakes winner produced out of stakes winner Valentine Fever. The mare's first foal, Venus Valentine, won the 2016 Rachel Alexandra Stakes (G3) run at Fair Grounds at 74-toone odds.

Valentine Fever won five races and earned $299,361. All three of her stakes placements came as a three-year-old at Turfway Park where she won both the Cincinnati Trophy and Valdale stakes and finished second in the Grade 3 Bourbonette Breeders' Cup Oaks.

Alliford Bay is one of 68 black-type winners – led by six champions – sired by City Zip, whose offspring have earned over $76.5-million. A Grade 1-winning half-brother to Horse of the Year and top sire Ghostzapper, City Zip stood the 2017 breeding season for $50,000 live foal at Lane's End in Versailles, Kentucky.

The ongoing rivalry between Barkley and Mach One Rules continued on May 21 in the six-panel Governor's Stakes, the first 2017 Emerald Downs stakes for the handicap male division. A field of five other runners joined the fray, but at the end it was all about Rising Star Stable III's Kentucky-bred Barkley and R. E. V. Racing's Washington-bred Mach One Rules.

Through May 21, Barkley and Mach One Rules have now met six times. In four of those races - all stakes - Mach One Rules went down to Barkley by a head, neck, head and another neck. In the other two outings where they shared the field. Barkley was the runner-up. but still finished ahead of Mach One Rules. The first time the son of Munnings lost was a second place finish to Opportunistic in the Emerald Downs Derby, where he finished a head behind the winner, but six lengths the better of fourth placed Mach One Rules. The second time came this past April in an allowance race taken by Prime Engine, who was 3 3/4 lengths ahead of Barkley, with Mach One Rules a neck further back in third. In the Governor's Stakes, Prime Engine ran fourth by 3 1/2 lengths.

Barkley was a $21,000 Keeneland September Yearling Sale purchase. He is the first foal out of the unraced Medaglia d'Oro mare Numero d'Oro. The nine-yearold mare's second foal, Class Won, a threeyear-old son of Caleb's Posse, finished third in maiden special weight races at Fair Grounds and Keeneland this spring from three tries. Numero d'Oro has a yearling colt by Bodemeister.

Barkley is from the second crop of Grade 2 sprinter Munnings, a 2006 son of champion sprinter Speightstown. The 2016 leading third crop sire cumulative, Munnings' offspring have earned over $13.5-million through early June and includes 20 other stakes winners - six graded. Munnings' top runner to date is the three-time Grade 1-winning filly I'm a Chatterbox. The 11-year-old stallion also counts Del Mar Derby (G2) winner Omi and Churchill Downs Stakes (G2) winner Catalina Red among his leading runners. Munnings stands at Ashford Stud in Versailles, Kentucky, where his 2017 stud fee was $25,000 live foal.

NIGHTATMISSKITTYS (1991), by Al Mamoon. Unraced. Half-sister to FIRESWEEPER (Washington champion 2- and 3-year-old filly, 13 wins, $363,394, Mt. Wilson S. Citizen Kitty boasts a strong distaff line. The five-year-old mare is a half-sister to one Washington champion (Invested Prospect) out of a Washington champion racemare and champion broodmare (No Constraints) who is a full sister to another Washington champion (Sundance Circle). The new stakes winner's granddam (Nightatmisskittys) was also given Washington broodmare of the year status and she is a half-sister to two more Washington champions (Firesweeper and Serenity Road). To add even more depth, Citizen Kitty's fourth dam Mostly produced a Canadian broodmare of the year (Primarily), who in turn is the dam of two Canadian champions (Poetically and Primaly). And that brief synopsis leaves out a host of other stakes runners.

Starting with No Constraints, her first eight dams all produced at least one stakes winner and her sixth dam, stakes winner Throttle Wide, is the dam of 1948 champion three-year-old filly Miss Request. No Constraint's ninth dam, the 1894 Eolus mare Merry Maid, never really had a good chance to be a stakes producer as she only had one foal.

Citizen Kitty was purchased by Bruce and Cass Maller's California-based Highlander Racing Stables LLC for $41,000 at the 2013 WTBOA Sale. The Mallers and Metz had previously teamed together to campaign 2013 Washington horse of the year E Z Kitty.

Proud Citizen, the sire of Citizen Kitty and her yearling full brother - who has been nominated to the August 2017 WTBOA Sale, won the 2002 Coolmore Lexington Stakes and also placed in that year's Kentucky Derby (G1) and Preakness Stakes (G1) while trained by D. Wayne Lukas. A son of the top-ranked Mr. Prospector son Gone West, Proud Citizen sired 37 stakes winners – including four champions - and the earners of over $39-million. Two of his daughters won the Kentucky Oaks (G1): champion Proud Spell and Better Believe You Can, both who were bred and raced by Brereton and Elizabeth Jones's Airdrie Stud. The Kentucky nursery stood Proud Citizen until his death in 2016 at age 17 due to chronic laminitis.

Riser, who was originally named Crackerjackjustice, went through the Fasig-Tipton sales yards twice. He was first sold as a yearling in Kentucky for $60,000 and then later as a two-year-old in Maryland the Ohio-bred colt brought $75,000.

The gray/roan colt was impressive in his first start at two when he won a Golden Gate Fields maiden special weight race by 2 1/2 lengths. He followed that win with tries in three stakes races at Santa Anita and Golden Gate, but the best he could do was a fifth in the Golden Nugget Stakes.

Turned out for the winter, Riser made his 2017 debut at Emerald Downs where he went gate-to-wire to win an allowance/$25,000 optional claiming (N) race by seven lengths on May 6. It marked his first start on dirt and the race would set him up nicely for the Coca-Cola Stakes in which he covered the 6 1/2-furlong distance in a 2017 meet best 1:15.26.

Riser races for Sugar City, Idaho, resident Jared Chappell's Chappell Alpine Farms LLC and is the second stakes winner of the current Emerald meet for trainer Blaine Wright, who also trains Coca-Cola runner-up Aqua Frio.

Riser is a member of the 11th crop of Juddmonte Farms' Mizzen Mast, a son of Cozzene who raced in both France and the US where he won or placed in five graded/ group races, including a victory in the Grade 1 Strub Stakes. The sire of the earners of over $51-million through early June, Mizzen Mast stood the 2017 breeding season for $10,000 live foal.

Goodbye Cat, the dam of Riser and only two other foals, won a maiden special weight race at Evangeline Downs as a two-yearold. She is a half-sister to three other stakes winners, including multiple graded winner Commitisize, a son of Explodent who earned $784,877, and four-time Southern California stakes winner Perfect Six, a daughter of Saratoga Six who is the dam of two-time Grade 3 winner and $505,234 earner Buffalo Man, by El Prado (Ire).

(R), etc.). 3 other foals, all winners, including LADY ROSBERG (8 wins, 2 to 5, $183,997, Washington champion older filly or mare, champion turf horse twice, Emerald Distaff H., etc.).

Washington's 2016 two-year-old filly Risque's Legacy races as a homebred for Karl and Darlyne Krieg of Oak Harbor. From the first crop of multiple Washington champion Atta Boy Roy, the talented bay miss is the one and only foal out of her dam Risque Humor, who was also bred and raced by the Kriegs.

Last year Risque's Legacy came out strong with two impressive tallies in her only two starts, a maiden special weight race – by nine lengths – and the WA Cup Two-year-old Filly Stakes – by three.

The Tom Wenzel trainee returned to the Auburn racing scene on May 7 and finished second to newcomer Alliford Bay in the sixfurlong Seattle Stakes.

In the 6 1/2-furlong Kent Stakes, Risque's Legacy battled for the lead with Alliford Bay for the first half-mile before opening up in the stretch to defeat 32-to-one longshot Retreat Yourself by one length.

Risque Humor was one of nine foals and winners out of the winning Distorted Humor mare Enter Laughing. Among them is threetime Washington champion and five-time stakes winner Lady Rosberg. Risque Humor and Lady Rosberg are three-quarter sisters, as both their sires are sons of Horse of the Year A. P. Indy.

Dark Roots, the well named fifth dam of Risque's Legacy, was a half-sister to the equally well-named Stage Door Johnny. Both were out of Peroxide Blonde: Dark Roots, by *Malicious, and Stage Door Johnny, a son of Prince John.

Stage Door Johnny didn't start in either the 1968 Kentucky Derby or Preakness Stakes, which were both taken by then unbeaten Majestic Prince. Instead the Greentree Stable color bearer made his stakes debut in the Belmont Stakes where he crushed the high-priced son of Raise a Native's Triple Crown hopes with a 1 1/4-length win in the 12-furlong classic.

Stage Door Johnny had been a bit of a late bloomer, running second in his two maiden special weight races at two. At three, in his first start of the year, he ran third in a mile maiden allowance test in mid-April before reeling off a six-length win on May 8. It was followed with a four-length allowance tally at nine furlongs on May 23 and then came his victory in the Belmont just nine days later. Stage Door Johnny continued his winning streak with open victories in the Saranac and Dwyer handicaps. He retired after bowing a tendon with a 5-2-1 record in his eight starts. Though he only earned $223,965, his SSI was 62.91. All of his starts had been on NYRA tracks.

At stud, Stage Door Johnny sired 41 stakes winners from his 362 foals (11.3 percent).

Sharkzilla became the first stakes winner trained by Candi Cryderman Tollett when he rallied from last to take the $50,000 Auburn Stakes by one length. It marked the second Emerald Downs stakes win for his rider Erick Lopez.

"I knew we'd be coming late," said Lopez. "But he really exploded in the stretch. He really kicked it in."

The new stakes winner was bred in California by Roger Downes, who consigned him as a short yearling at the January 2015 Barretts sale. Selling as Hip169, he has proved to be a $1,200 bargain for owner John Parker.

Sharkzilla's three races at two included a third place finish behind Blazinbeauty and So Lucky in the Gottstein Futurity.

Sharkzilla won a six-furlong maiden special weight race at Golden Gate Fields on March 25 and followed with a second in a mile starter allowance at the Albany track on April 9.

Sharkzilla was sired by Distorted Reality, a son of Distorted Humor who won two Belmont Park stakes and placed in graded stakes at Saratoga and Keeneland. He earned $361,362 while trained by Todd Pletcher. A handsome and good-sized chestnut, Distorted Reality retired to stud at Buck Pond Farm in Kentucky in 2009 for a $5,000 fee. He was moved the following year to Marvin Fleming's Fleming Thoroughbred Farm in Arizona and stood for a private fee in 2017. A half-brother to three other stakes winners, Distorted Reality is inbred 3x4 to Mr. Prospector. Distorted Reality is from the same female line as Kentucky broodmare of the year Oatsee and good racehorses and sires Gone West, Known Fact and Tentam.

Both Sharkzilla's third and fourth dams were stakes winners. General Partner, a 1972 daughter of the Promised Land stallion Understanding (who is better known as the damsire of Horse of the Year and Japanese sire phenomenon Sunday Silence), won the Indian Maid Stakes and earned $113,282. She produced stakes winner El Clipper, a son of Naskra who took the 1989 Louisville Handicap.

General Partner's dam Fascinator, a daughter of War Jeep, won the 1954 Kentucky Oaks. Fascinator's half-brother, stakes-placed Jean Miracle, stood in Washington where he sired 1953's leading sophomore male New Miracle and 1957 top state handicapper Miracle Escort.

In 2014, small Thoroughbred breeder Connie Belshay, who operates Only Me Thoroughbreds in Graham, sold an attractive Nationhood filly for $30,000 at the WTBOA Summer Sale. She decided to reinvest some of those funds into a broodmare addition. With the help of Debbie Pabst she purchased Great Mom, an unraced filly from the first crop of Pioneerof the Nile, for $10,000 at the 2015 Barrett's January mixed sale. The then four-year-old filly had been bred for the second time to Papa Clem, and she foaled a dark bay filly for Belshay just a month later. Belshay named the filly Squeeze Me for her sweet disposition.

Consigned to the 2016 WTBOA August sale, Squeeze Me was purchased by trainer Kevin Eikleberry for $12,000. In November Eikleberry put the filly through the Arizona Thoroughbred Breeders Association Mixed Sale where she was a $17,000 RNA.

On March 24 Squeeze Me recorded her first public work, going four furlong in :49.20, the eighth fastest time of the 16 horses working that distance at Turf Paradise that day. After two more good works (three furlongs in :35 second fastest from 18 - on April 1; and four furlongs in :48.20 - fourth fastest of 29 - on April 8) Squeeze Me made her debut on April 15. Running as the $2.10-to-one favorite in a 4 1/2-furlong trial, she easily defeated a field of eight other juvenile colt and filly first-time starters by 6 1/2 lengths.

Squeeze Me made her final work in preparation for her stakes debut a quick :47.20 for four furlongs on April 26 (fourth best of 18).

A field of ten gathered for the $74,060 Turf Paradise Open Spring Futurity, including two others who had won their trial debuts. Bet down to ten cents on the dollar, Squeeze Me led at every call with :22.44 and :44.53 fractions before she drew off under "mild hand urging while not being seriously threatened" by 6 1/4 lengths. Unfortunately, the unbeaten filly had to be vanned off the track when she bled after her successful run. Eikleberry has turned out his talented filly for the summer to heal.

Great Mom is one of five foals of racing age produced out of $189,189 earner Boston Express, who was a stakes winner at Lonestar Park and Louisiana Downs and stakes-placed at Calder (G3) and Oaklawn.

Boston Express produced a filly by Papa Clem in 2016, while Great Mom has a yearling colt by Nationhood who has been entered in this summer's WTBOA August sale.

American Flyer, a daughter of Forty Niner and the third dam of Squeeze Me, has so far produced six winners from her first 12 named foals. The now 21-year-old mare has a yearling filly by Twirling Candy and produced a filly by Stay Thirsty this spring. American Flyer is a half-sister to Grade 3 winner and Group 1-placed Firm Pledge and to English and Italian stakes-placed Omnia.

Leading Washington Sires

Statistics are compiled by The Jockey Club Information Systems, Inc. While every effort is made to prevent errors and omissions, Washington Thoroughbred cannot guarantee their complete and total accuracy. Included are sires standing in the state of Washington. Deceased or retired sires will remain in the "leading lifetime" lists until they no longer have Washington-bred runners, but will only be included in the "current year" lists until after their last Washington-bred runners have raced as two-year-olds. Does not include Southern Hemisphere racing.

Note: For the summer issue, the magazine published prior to the WTBOA sale, "Leading Lifetime Sires" statistics will contain any deceased or retired Washington stallions with enough earnings to be ranked among the top sires in the state and will also include any former Washington stallion, with enough earnings to be ranked, that has progeny in the sale.

Bold-type represents the leader under that category. Statistics include racing through July 23, 2017.

WTBOA-sold Squeeze Me Dominates in Turf Paradise Spring Futurity

On April 15, two-year-old Squeeze Me became the first Washington-bred juvenile winner of 2017 when the daughter of Papa Clem took a 4 1/2-furlong trial at Turf Paradise by 6 1/2 lengths in her debut.

Bet down to ten cents on the dollar for her second start, in the May 7 Turf Paradise Open Spring Futurity, she became the initial WTBOA Sales graduate to take a 2017 stakes race when she led from gate-to-wire to win the $74,060 race by 6 1/4 lengths "under a mild hand urging while not being seriously threatened."

Bred by Connie Belshay and owned and trained by Kevin Eikleberry, Squeeze Me is the first winner – from two foals of racing age – out of the Pioneerof the Nile mare Great Mom, who has a colt by Nationhood in the 2017 WTBOA August sale.

Purchased by Eikleberry for $12,000 from the Blue Ribbon Farm consignment, the filly next went through the November Arizona sale as a $17,000 RNA. She has earned $49,188.

Squeeze Me was also the subject of a full page photo and editorial in the January-June 2017 Arizona Thoroughbred, which commemorated her facile stakes victory.

Wesley Ward Trainees Continue to Soar at Royal Ascot

Washington Racing Hall of Fame trainer and Selah native Wesley Ward scored another big win at Royal Ascot on June 20 when Stonestreet Thoroughbred Stables, G. Bolton and P. Leidel's three-year-old filly Lady Aurelia, by Scat Daddy, defeated a field of 16 older horses by three lengths in the five-furlong King's Stand Stakes (G1). It marked the second Group 1 victory for the Kentucky-bred filly that had been named 2016 champion two-year-old filly in Europe. The talented sprinter has won five of her six races and earned $718,607.

Ward also celebrated in the winner's enclosure when Hat Creek Racing's Con Te Partiro – who is also a sophomore daughter of the late Scat Daddy – won the mile Sandringham Handicap the following day. It marked Ward's overall impressive eighth win during the tradition-rich English meet.

Ward also finished second with Happy Like a Fool, a daughter of Distorted Humor, in this year's Queen Mary Stakes (G2), a race he conquered last year with Lady Aurelia.

Paradise Woods Runs Away with Santa Anita Oaks

In only her third start, Steven Sarkowsky and Martin J. and Pam Wygod's threeyear-old filly Paradise Woods drew off to win the $400,000 Santa Anita Oaks (G1) by an impressive 11 3/4 lengths on April 8. The daughter of second crop sire Union Rags—Wild Forest, by Forest Wildcat, was bred in Kentucky by Sarkowsky's late father, Washington Racing Hall of Fame breeder and noted Pacific Northwest sportsman Herman Sarkowsky.

The $293,200 earner is a half-sister to $269,545 stakes winner Forest Chatter. Richard Mandella, who trains Paradise Woods, also put the saddle up on the elder Sarkowsky's national champion filly Phone Chatter.

WTBOA Sales Graduates in the News

Favored One, a Washington champion and Grade 2-winning daughter of Son of Briartic, is the granddam of 2014 Canadian Horse of the Year, champion three-year-old filly and grass horse Lexie Lou, a multiple Canadian classic winner. The daughter of Sligo Bay (Ire) earned her fourth Sovereign Award title as Canada's 2016 champion female turf horse.

Rio Norte went gate-to-wire to take his first start, a $25,000 maiden claiming race at Emerald Downs on April 22. Bred in Washington by Bar C Racing Stables Inc., the three-year-old gelding by Harbor the Gold races for Mark Dedomenico LLC and is trained by Michael Puhich. Rio Norte is the fourth winner out of two-time Washington and Emerald Downs champion Youcan'ttakeme, a 2000 daughter of He's Tops who has already produced stakes winners Hard Way Ten and Super Dixie.

Percy's Bluff won his eighth consecutive race on April 29 in a 1 1/16-mile starter allowance race at Golden Gate Fields. After running third in a Golden Gate starter allowance in May, the five-year-old gelded son of El Dorado Farms LLC's Raise the Bluff returned to the winner's circle on July 4 with a win in a five-panel starter handicap at Santa Anita, boosted by a career high 98 Beyer. Bred by Nina and Ron Hagen out of the Conquistador Cielo mare Persephonie, Washington's 2016 most improved claimer has won 15 of his 34 starts and earned $179,708, including $72,300 this year.

Collect Call, the multiple stakes winner and Grade 1-placed daughter of Meadowlake who topped the 2000 WTBOA Summer Sale as a two-year-old, is the dam of Grade 2 stakes winner and sire Old Fashioned and $2-million 2004 Saratoga select yearling Kauai Calls, by Fusaichi Pegasus. Kauai Calls' four-year-old daughter Portmagee, by Hard Spun, won the $150,000 License Fee Stakes at Belmont Park on April 30. Kentucky-bred Portmagee has a 3-0-2 record from her five starts and has made $171,500 for Waterville Lake Stable.

Southern Solution took his 12th win – all at Emerald Downs – on April 30. The seven-year-old gelding won his latest race for Go Go Racing and the estate of the late Del Kelly. Bred in Washington by the partnership of John Parker and trainer Candi Cryderman Tollett, Southern Solution returned to his original owners when claimed out of his latest win. The son of Southern Africa—Kimora, by Navarone, has earned $96,416.

Oldtimers Vision, a $4,000 2012 WTBOA sales graduate, took his seventh win on May 5 at Emerald Downs while racing for owner/trainer Neil Knapp. The Kentucky-bred gelding, a son of Pollard's Vision—Quantuck, by Real Quiet, added win number eight in a $15,000 claiming race at Emerald on June 23. The stakes-placed runner, who had been a member of the D & S Thoroughbreds sale consignment, has earned $96,490.

Raise a Dancer, a four-year-old stakesplaced daughter of El Dorado Farms LLC's Raise the Bluff—Crowning Camilla, by Formal Dinner, won an allowance/$25,000 optional claiming race by 5 3/4 lengths at Northlands Park on May 26. Bred in Washington by Ron McCormick and Ron Hagen, Raise a Dancer added a second 2017 victory in an allowance/$25,000 optional claiming race at Northlands Park on July 1. The 2 3/4-length win pushed her earnings to $81,660.

Exit Sixty Slew, a four-year-old daughter of El Dorado Farms LLC stallion Abraaj, earned her fourth win at Emerald Downs in a May 6 $15,000 claiming race. Bred in Washington by Nina Hagen and Holly Sturgeon, the filly out of Slew Tunes – an unraced Slewdledo-sired half-sister to stakes winner Irene's Bonus Baby – took her third race in a row on June 3 in a $20,000 claimer and upped her earnings to $54,248. Exit Sixty Slew's yearling full sister has been nominated to the 2017 WTBOA sale.

Complete Approval, a daughter of With Approval—Bullion, by Ack Ack, bred in Washington by George Dill, became a Portland Meadows stakes winner of ten races and earn over $203,827. A product of the 1997 WTBOA Summer Sale, Complete Approval has produced five winners, including Completely Bonkers, a 2013 gelding sired by Oakhurst Thoroughbreds' classic winner Giacomo. Completely Bonkers updated his earnings to $197,780 with his victory in a 1 1/16-mile turf allowance/$25,000 optional claiming (N) race carded at Gulfstream Park on May 9. The Florida-bred gelding has a 5-3-5 record from 17 starts.

Contormar won a $16,000 claiming race at Gulfstream Park on June 10. Bred by Tom Grether Farms, it was the third win for the Kentucky-bred son of Tizway—Brandolynn, by Bertrando, who has earned $59,923. All of Contormar's starts have come at Gulfstream Park or Gulfstream Park West. Last December as a two-year-old he ran fourth in the $75,000 Pulpit Stakes, which had been won by future Belmont Stakes (G1) winner Tapwrit.

Shay's grandson, five-year-old Shaman Ghost, by Ghostzapper, won the $300,000 1 3/16-mile Pimlico Special Handicap (G3) on May 19. Racing as a homebred for Frank Stronach, Canadian champion Shaman Ghost next finished second to Keen Ice in the July 8, $695,000 Suburban Stakes (G2) at Belmont Park. Shaman Ghost has won eight of his 17 outings and earned $3,859,311, of which $2,520,000 has been earned in his three races this year. Shaman Ghost is out of the multiple stakes-placed and $384,000 earner Getback Time, whose dam is stakes winner and WTBOA sales graduate Shay.

Boundary Bay became the second Washington-bred two-year-old winner of 2017 when the gelded son of Harbor the Gold—Flying Memo, by Memo (Chi), won a 3 1/2-furlong maiden special weight race at Hastings Racecourse on May 28. Ben's Cat Lost to Complications following Colic Surgery

Recently retired Ben's Cat, 11, succumbed on July 18, 2017, due to complications after having colic surgery on July 6 for an epiploic foramen entrapment. The multiple Maryland-bred champion had only been moved to Kentucky three weeks earlier to spend his well-deserved retirement years with Christina and Bayne Welker at their Spring Ridge Farm near Versailles.

Breeder/owner/trainer King Leatherbury retired Ben's Cat after the gelding had finished unplaced in the June 24 Mister Diz Stakes, a race the veteran runner had won for six consecutive years (2010-2015) and finished third in last year.

Unraced until four due to injury, Ben's Cat helped keep his sire, Gibson Thoroughbred Farm's Parker's Storm Cat, at the top of the Washington sire rankings for six consecutive years, starting in 2011.

Four-time Maryland Horse of the Year Ben's Cat was one of seven winners out of the $76,753 stakes-placed Thirty Eight Paces mare Twofox.

During his eight years at the track Ben's Cat made 63 starts, won 32 of them and ran second or third an additional 16 times. Among his wins were 26 stakes victories – the last at age ten in the Jim McKay Turf Sprint Stakes.

Turf sprints were the runner's specialty. Four of his wins were in Grade 3 stakes, the 2011-12 Turf Monster Handicap and the 2013-14 Parx Dash Stakes. The rugged runner also placed in 15 other stakes with most of his $2,643,782 earnings coming on the Maryland/Pennsylvania circuit.

Clemans View Farm Named Washington's 2016 TOBA Award Winner

Lifelong industry members Jean Harris and her son Jeff Harris, who bred and race under Clemans View Farm, were named the 2016 Thoroughbred Owners and Breeders Association (TOBA) Award winners for Washington State. Among the 11 2016 starters the Naches-based farm bred were 2016 Washington sprint champion and Emerald Downs six-furlong track record holder Kaabraaj and two-time stakes-placed juvenile Don'tbeshywillie. All in all, their five winners last year won a dozen races. Clemans View Farm ranked sixth among Washington breeders last year with $184,904 in earnings.

On June 11, Clemans View Farm-bred runners Viewingthegold and Guardingthemoney, four-year-old geldings by Harbor the Gold and Coast Guard, respectively, ran one-two in a $25,000 claiming race at Emerald Downs. Viewingthegold races for his breeders and Big Bill and Company, while Guardingthemoney runs for Clemans View and Bill Nicklos (Nicklos also heads Big Bill and Company).

The TOBA National Awards Dinner, now in its 32nd year, will be held on September 9 at historic Calumet Farm in Lexington, Kentucky.

Three WSU Recipients Among Veterinary Students Awarded 2017 Winner's Circle Scholarships

Thirty-three veterinary students received a combined $102,000 in financial support through the 2017 Winner's Circle Scholarship Program, co-sponsored by the American Association of Equine Practitioners' (AAEP) Foundation, Platinum Performance and The Race For Education.

The Winner's Circle scholarships, managed by The Race For Education, are intended to help ease the financial burden of a veterinary education by offering third- and fourth-year students at each of the AAEP's 39 full or full-affiliate student chapters an opportunity to earn scholarships ranging from $1,500 to $5,000, depending on the needs of the individual student. Students are selected for scholarships based on their leadership roles and dedication to a future in equine healthcare.

Among this year's awardees are Washington State University students Christina Frost, Michala Lindly and Kelsey Stoner. Amid the other 30 students honored was Renee Baumann, who attends Oregon State University. Frost is a former THRUST and Race For Education scholarship winner through the Washington Thoroughbred Foundation.

In 2017, 18 students received $1,500 scholarships and 15 others received $5,000 scholarships.

Zena Hemmen 2017 WTF/WTBOA Scholarship Winner at WSU

Washington State University College of Veterinary Medicine third-year student Zena Hemmen, of Bainbridge Island, is the recipient of the 2017 Washington Thoroughbred Foundation/Washington Thoroughbred Breeders and Owners Association Scholarship Award.

In her thank you letter she writes that she is "interested in all aspects of the performance horse, especially in the diagnosis and treatment of lameness and performance horse issues."

A Washington native, Hemmen has cultivated an interest in equine research and been an active member of the colic and neonatal foal critical care teams while at WSU. She also created network opportunities for veterinary students as the Equine Student Representative for VetPh and paints anatomy on live horses for her presentations to groups and organizations.

Hemmen is a member of the American Association of Equine Practitioners (AAEP), Student Chapter American Veterinary Medical Association and WSU Graduate and Professional Student Association.

During her first two years in veterinary school, Hemmen was involved as a research assistant "for a project aimed at investigating the pathophysiology of exercise induced pulmonary hemorrhage in racehorses and the effect of medication furosemide [Lasix or Salix] on that condition." She "is currently working on a project aimed at investigating the protective effects of plasma on Rhodococcus equi survival in horse immune cells, with the goal of decreasing R. equi infection in foals on Thoroughbred breeding farms."

Her end goal is to be an equine internal medicine clinical instructor and researcher at a veterinary institution.

2017 WFT/Race for Education Scholarship Winners

Three young college-bound students were voted by the Washington Thoroughbred Foundation (WTF) board to receive the 2017 Washington Thoroughbred Foundation/Race For Education scholarships.

Rebecca Smoak, of Grayland, is a 2015 graduate of Republic High School. She recently attended Grays Harbor College, but plans to transfer to Washington State University (WSU) this fall. The former 4-Her competes in Three Day Eventing and has spent many hours volunteering for the Willapa Veterinary Clinic, as well as organizing local beach cleanup. She will be the recipient of a $2,000 scholarship.

Jeremy Hall hails from Tacoma. The 2009 Quilcene High School graduate received his bachelor's degree in business administration from the University of Washington in 2013 and is currently going for a doctorate in veterinary medicine at WSU. When not in school, Hall works as a Level II veterinary assistant for Blue Pearl Veterinary Partners in Tacoma. The Pacific Northwest native enjoys many of the outdoor opportunities provided by our beautiful region. Much of his volunteering experience has been in aid of the animal community. He too will benefit from a $2,000 scholarship.

Madison Caldron, of Renton, was awarded the third scholarship. Caldron, a recent Kentridge High School graduate, finished her second year at Green River Community College this summer and plans to attend the University of Washington in September where she will major in accounting. She has a passion for horseback riding and during the summers she volunteers several hours each day in exchange for riding lessons. Her current leased mount is an off the track Thoroughbred and she has hopes of becoming a horse trainer. Caldron was awarded a $1,000 scholarship.

IN MEMORIAM

Thomas Edward Allen

Tom Allen, 87, passed away on May 29, 2017. He was born in Olympia on October 26, 1929, to Hazel and Edward Allen. Tom grew up in Seattle, attending Roosevelt High School and the University of Washington. Tom married Barbara Jo (B-Jo) of Santa Barbara, California. He served in the Navy during World War II and the Korean War.

For 50 years, Tom was an independent insurance agent. A longtime WTBOA member, Allen provided the insurance for the WTBOA for many years. He was also a mentor and good friend to Washington equine insurers Dana Halvorson and Claudia A. Canouse.

For many years, Tom and B-Jo had a farm, Admiralty Horses, on Whidbey Island where they raised Thoroughbreds and cattle, and enjoyed hosting friends and family for picnics.

Among the horses the Allens bred and raced was 1984 Spokane Derby winner Whidbey Tea and the runner's eight-race winning half-sister Super Tea. A daughter of Super Pleasure, Super Tea would produce five winners for the Allens and those runners would take 44 victories between them, including the 18 won by Allenraced Kimos Friend.

Tom was involved and active in numerous civic organizations. Outdoor activities – fishing, hunting, hiking, and skiing – were also a big part of Tom's life.

Tom was preceded in death by B-Jo. He is survived by his children, Jim (Bev), Julia, Mary Jo (Peter), Scott; six grandchildren; and his sister, Jane.

Tom Bellos

Tom Bellos passed away on February 26, 2017.

His name goes down in the history of the Longacres Mile as the trainer the tenth winner of Washington's top race in 1951 with Braemar Stables' Little Rollo, whose $61.30 payoff was a record for the eightfurlong race until Edneator's $85.20 payoff in 2000, which was then demolished by No Giveaway's win in 2005 with its $122 payoff.

The trainer also saddled 1957 Drumheller Memorial Stakes winner Junes Jewel.

He raced under Golden Pine Stables.

Robert "Bob" E. Coyle

Bob Coyle passed away on June 7, 2017. He was born November 13, 1930, in Bayview, Idaho.

Bob spent the majority of his life in Spokane where he met his wife of 66 years, Beverly, at the age of 15. It was love at first sight and on August 5, 1950, they tied the knot.

Bob served in the US Navy during the Korean War aboard the USS Rupertus destroyer, and as a Navy veteran he was an active member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

His years after his service were spent raising his family in Spokane where he worked at Kaiser Aluminum (Trentwood) for 31 years. Upon his retirement from Kaiser, he enjoyed spending time traveling the country with Beverly.

He was a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Bob's other passion in life was his racehorses at Playfair. Bob owned many horses throughout the years. One of the most prolific horses named after him was five-time Playfair stakes winner Bob Cee Star.

He was preceded in death by his father, mother, three sisters and three brothers. Bob is survived by his wife, Beverly; three children, Paul (Rhonda), Kathy (Duane) and Mark, all of Spokane; grandchildren, Shaun and Adam; and two great-grandchildren, Jordan and Claudia.

Delbert "Del" Joseph Kelly Jr.

Longtime Thoroughbred owner Delbert "Del" Kelly, 71, of Federal Way, died April 18, 2017, of pneumonia following a courageous battle with cancer.

He was born on September 17, 1940, the only child of Capt. Delbert Sr. and Hazel Kelly, at Virginia Mason Hospital in Seattle.

Del graduated from West Seattle High School in 1958 and soon after began his career following in the footsteps of his father by becoming a professional maritime captain. He spent his early career transiting along the West Coast from Alaska to California before settling down in Puget Sound where he worked for Washington State Ferries and then Crowley Maritime. Del became a Puget Sound pilot in 1979 and reluctantly medically retired in 2002. He remained actively involved in the industry by transitioning into the role of an educator at Pacific Maritime Institute in Seattle. He was a mentor to a great many in both his personal and professional life.

Del took great pride in his career and lived other areas of life to the fullest. His greatest joy was staying busy helping others; placing himself second to his family and loved ones. In his free time, he was an avid golfer and Seattle team sports fan. Attending the Mariners' spring training in Arizona was one of the highlights of his year. He also loved spending time at Emerald Downs where he owned several racehorses in partnership.

His beloved life companion, an Amazon parrot, Meka, was the light of his home. Del's relationship with the Lord was very important to him and he was an active member of Highline Christian Church for several years.

He was preceded in death by his parents, in 1981; and his son, Shaun Kelly, in 1997. Del is survived by his children: Capt. Patrick (Brynne) Kelly, Lani (David) Witherby, and step-daughter Kristi (Scott) Sacco; grandsons, Tim, Ryan, Shaun Jr., Dylan, JT and Blake; granddaughters, Kenzie, Faith, Kali and Moriah.

Donald L. Munger

Don Munger, 93, a trainer, breeder and owner of Thoroughbreds for over seven decades and one of Washington's most beloved racing figures, died May 14, 2017, of congestive heart failure in Enumclaw. He was born on December 11, 1923, in Delwin, Iowa, to Walter Gillman and Hattie Mae Munger. The family moved west after a fire destroyed their home and Don graduated from Auburn High School.

At 18, Don joined the Marine Corps shortly after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. He served as a scout sniper during World War II and among his many battles was Iwo Jima, where he was injured. After his discharge from the Marines he attended the University of Washington.

A lifelong horse lover, Don broke and trained horses as a teenager in Seattle. He then got involved in racing after the war and took out his trainer's license.

Don and his first wife, Carolyn, who died in 1962, had two daughters, Debra and Dawn Marie. Don and his second wife Wanda shared over 55 years together and had one son, Tyler.

A longtime WTBOA member, Don at one time served on the association's sales committee.

Don's first runner and winner came in 1956 and since that time he saddled over 630 winners (and for the most part homebreds) – including three during the 2017 season at Emerald Downs – who have earned over $2.3-million. His most lucrative year as a trainer came in 2012 when he had a 20-9-17 record from 105 starts and earnings of $128,353. Two of Don's 2017 Emerald Downs wins came on April 16 with homebreds Rifle Grenade and Pakokohe, both offspring of his stallion Nacheezmo.

Among the stakes winners he trained were homebreds Diamond Villa – his leading earner at $69,880 – Clockers Choice, Barbaric Nell and Prime Overtime. The final stakes winner he bred and trained was Roveing Patrol, winner of the 2012 Diane Kem Stakes at Emerald Downs.

Munger campaigned his homebreds in his familiar green and white silks and had at least one win every Emerald Downs season since the track opened in 1996 with the exception of 2003.

He also bred 1968 co-champion twoyear-old male Gallant Command, 1989 Oregon Derby winner Prime Edition, 1974 Yakima Meadows fall horse of the meeting Black Mack, and stakes winner and Longacres track record holder Best Hitter.

Among the industry awards Don received were the 2012 Martin Durkan and Washington Special Racetrack Achievement awards. Don and Wanda were voted Washington Thoroughbred Owners and Breeders Association (TOBA) winners in 1999. Besides standing stallions, breeding and foaling and training numerous good runners, Don also hauled his horses to the track and for many years also shod and ponied his horses to the starting gate.

"Don Munger was a humble gentleman who made numerous contributions to Washington racing," Emerald Downs President Phil Ziegler said the day following Munger's death. "Thoroughbred racing lost an icon."

He was preceded in death by his sisters, Dorothy, Doreen, Donna and Doris; and grandson, Allen. Don is survived by wife, Wanda; son, Tyler (Monica) Munger; daughters, Dawn Marie (Doug) Dickson and Debbie (Joseph) Morris Keyes; six grandchildren; 16 great-grandchildren; and sister, Delphi Burke.

Jane Driggers Proctor

Former top Pacific Northwest rider and trailblazer Jane Proctor, 61, passed away of a malignant brain tumor at her home in Ocala, Florida, on April 17, 2017. She was born on March 24, 1956, in Silverton, Oregon, to Charley and May (Hanada) Driggers.

Jane owned her first horse at eight and enjoyed competing at horse shows. The young rider began galloping Thoroughbreds for their morning exercise and later rode at a couple of unrecognized county fair meets in Central Oregon. In 1972 16-year-old Jane went to Portland Meadows and became the first female rider to win a race there – aboard her first mount – when she took a three-way photo finish aboard Hi Sheri on June 10. Jane also rode at Playfair and Salem that summer before returning to Canby High School.

Her riding career took off in earnest the following year and with it came her first stakes victory – and first by a female rider at Portland Meadows – with a win aboard Martin's Lemon – in track record time – in the Portland Meadows Marathon. She also rode at Salem and Playfair that season and by the end of the Spokane track's meet she was the West's leading female rider and top apprentice of either sex. She was honored as the Inland Empire Sportswriters and Broadcasters (SWABS) Woman Athlete of the Year.

In 1974 she became the first female rider to win a Playfair stakes aboard Matinee Girl in the Lilac City Handicap. Among her noted mounts were Shynaman – 1975 Portland Meadows horse of the meeting – and Grey Papa, who she partnered with to win the 1975 Memorial Day Handicap at Longacres. In winning the latter race she added another "first female rider to take a stakes race" title at the Renton oval.

Salem honored her with the Jane Driggers Stakes in the 1990s and when Salem shut down for racing Portland Meadows followed suit a few years later with the Jane Driggers Debutante Stakes. Both races were aptly restricted to Oregon-bred fillies.

Jane also rode at Golden Gate Fields, Bay Meadows and on the Northern California fair circuit before retiring to become a full-time exercise rider in 1983. During her career she rode nearly 500 Thoroughbreds, Quarter Horses, Appaloosas and Arabians to the winner's circle.

She met future husband Harry "Hap" Proctor, son of noted trainer Willard Proctor, at Bay Meadows in 1981 and they were married on September 29, 1984. The elder Proctor turned out many stakes winners for Leonard H. Lavin's Florida-based Glen Hill Farm. Both Hap and his brother Tom took turns running the Lavin farm and the Lavin racing stable.

The couple moved to Ocala and Glen Hill Farm in 1991. During the early years of her marriage, Jane would gallop horses over the farm's five-furlong training track. More recently she helped train horses to be track lead ponies.

Jane and Hap had two sons and also raised several foster children.

Jane also helped raise and train prospective guide dogs for the blind. She enjoyed tennis, gardening and spending the summers at Del Mar.

She is survived by her husband, Hap; sons, John and Ben; brothers, Joe and Jed Driggers; and brother-in-law Tom Proctor.

Ivan Puhich

Longtime horseman and noted jockey's agent Ivan Puhich, 89, passed away on June 19, 2017. He was the last of the five Puhich brothers – Nick, Joe, Eddie and Stanley.

Ivan was born on December 22, 1927, in St. Helena, California. His family later moved to Renton where he and his brothers Nick and Stan all started going to Longacres. His early experience in the horse world included selling newspapers, mucking stalls and walking hots. It was at Longacres during those early days that he gained the nickname "Big Ivan," as he was well over six feet tall.

A World War II Marine veteran, he fought at Okinawa and in China. After the war he enrolled in Gonzaga University in Spokane, where in 1951 he was the NCAA heavyweight boxing champion.

In the early 1960s he was a member of the starting gate crew at Agua Caliente.

Among the many successful jockeys he booked mounts for were Bill Mahorney, Marco Castaneda, Tyler Baze (during his Eclipse apprentice winning season) and more recently Mario Gutierrez (during his 2012 classic wins).

In 2014, Ivan and two other prominent jockey agents were honored by the Southern California racing community.

While still in the Marines, Ivan had traveled to Belmont Park in 1948 to watch Citation's Belmont Stakes win earn him the Triple Crown. Sixty-four years later he journeyed to New York to root on Gutierrez as he made his Triple Crown bid with I'll Have Another. He was preceded in death by infant son, Ivan Jr. and son, Steven. Ivan is survived by his daughter, Robin Freeman; three grandchildren, Jeanie Freeman, Kevin Freeman and Brad Puhich; and an extended family which includes his nephew, trainer Michael Puhich.

A celebration of his life will be held later this summer at Del Mar.

Ret.-Lieutenant Richard K. "Dick" Smith

Dick Smith, 76, a former Washington Horse Racing Commission (WHRC) investigator, passed away suddenly in April 2017 due to complications from heart surgery.

Dick joined the Washington State Patrol in 1963 as a member of the 32nd Trooper Cadet Basic Training class. He served as a WSP sergeant (1975-85) and then became a lieutenant for the Patrol. He retired from the WSP in 1988, but later returned to the WSP to serve as Commander of the Fire Academy. He worked there until 2004.

Dick joined the WHRC in June 2005, starting as an Investigator 1 and working his way up to an Investigator 3. He proudly served the citizens of Washington State with distinction and honor for 54 years.

*WTBOA Sales Incentive Program (SIP)

Beginning with the 2015 WTBOA Sale, all yearlings and weanlings that go through the sales ring and are made fully eligible will earn a lucrative bonus if they break their maiden at Emerald Downs at age two or three in one of two levels of racing.

• $2,500 SIP Owners' Incentive Bonus if a SIP-eligible horse wins its first race in a maiden special weight, allowance or stakes race.

• $1,000 SIP Owners' Incentive Bonus if a SIP-eligible horse wins its first race in a maiden $25,000 or more claiming race.

A two-part process funds the SIP and is required to make the horse fully eligible:

(1) Consignors – who must be current WTBOA members in order to consign a horse to the sale – will automatically contribute $50 to make each yearling or weanling in their consignment provisionally eligible for the incentive program.

(2) Buyers will then be offered the opportunity to make their purchase fully eligible by paying an additional fee. All buyers who wish to participate in the Sales Incentive Program must be WTBOA members in good standing by opening day of racing at Emerald Downs for the year that the horse will be racing.

• For current WTBOA members, the final SIP eligibility fee is $50 per horse.

• For 2016, non-WTBOA members will pay a $180 fee (includes $50 SIP fee and $130 WTBOA membership fee) for the first yearling or weanling, but only a $50 SIP fee for each additional yearling or weanling.

(3) All owners of SIP eligible runners must be a current WTBOA member during the year their horse wins an eligible SIP race (either at two or three), payable by opening day of the race year.

*In a $22,500/$25,000 maiden claiming race, the horse must be entered at the $25,000 level to qualify for the $1,000 bonus.

WTBOA Homebred Incentive Program (WHIP)

Beginning with the 2016 season, a one-time Owner's Incentive Bonus of $1,000 will be awarded when a horse breaks its maiden at Emerald Downs. Two-year-olds and three-year-olds are eligible for the bonus.

- Payment goes to the owner of the horse at the time that the horse breaks it maiden.
- The payment is made by the WTBOA within 30 days of the win.
- The horse must break its maiden at Emerald Downs.
- The horse must be a Washington-bred.
- The horse must not have gone through any sale (either sold or RNA).
- The horse must break its maiden at the $25,000 level or better.
- The owner(s) must be members of the WTBOA by Emerald Downs' opening day of the year in which the bonus is paid. A horse that is managed by a member will also receive the award. For instance, if a racing partnership or syndicate owns the horse, as long as the person who manages the entity is a member, they will receive the bonus.
- The owner of the horse does not have to be the breeder of the horse.
